Fortigo Deploys 1000 Users in 10 Days for Walkabout

AUSTIN, Texas, USA (November 7, 2007) — Fortigo, Inc., logistics cost management (LCM) experts, announced today that it has deployed on-demand, web-based order management and supply chain visibility solutions for Walkabout Transportation, a 3PL company based out of Austin, Texas.

Fortigo deployed 1,000 Walkabout end-users within just 2 short weeks. Requiring no internal IT resources, Walkabout was able to “plug and use” the fully-hosted Fortigo solutions within days. Fortigo’s intuitive, user-friendly order management and supply chain solutions required minimal training for Walkabout’s 1,000 new nationwide users.

“Fortigo is thrilled to have successfully deployed such a large volume of new users in such little time. It further validates Fortigo’s leadership in the on-demand supply chain execution space,” stated Dr. George Kontoravdis, founder and president of Fortigo.

“Fortigo enabled our success. Our customers can access Fortigo over the web to generate fulfillment requests, check order status, access proof of delivery data and create reports. Our warehouse personnel have real-time visibility to customer demand and can fulfill orders in a carrier neutral environment. The solution has paid for itself from the first day” added Steve Key, President of Walkabout Transportation.

Fortigo reduces shipping costs by automating, optimizing, and auditing logistics operations. Fortigo automates manual processes, optimizes key business decisions and audits carrier compliance to reduce logistics costs, increase profitability, enhance customer satisfaction and build competitive advantage for companies with mid-to-high volume shipping requirements. In addition, Fortigo's on-demand logistics technology does not require internal IT resources.
